

BIOGRAPHY

A mystical messenger of melody and higher consciousness, Jeffrey Brian is a profound singer/songwriter whose sound was cleverly described by one critic as Bob Dylan meets Kurt Cobain. Featured in publications like Billboard, The Los Angeles Times, Newsday and The New Yorker, along with television appearances on CBS, NBC, ABC and countless appearances on The Howard Stern Show, he and his twin brother gained worldwide notoriety in the rock band, The Jesus Twins.

Jeff has simultaneously paired the ascendancy of The Jesus Twins with a successful career as a singer/songwriter. He released a CD called "Karma" which Amazon.com called "riveting" and "a must own". A deeply moving song he wrote entitled "Let Go & Let God" about his identical twin brother's public bout with Manic Depression became a finalist in the John Lennon Songwriting Contest.

In his current musical incarnation, Jeffrey Brian is capturing the wonder and imagination of Austin's college students and professors alike. A full-length documentary about Jeff's life entitled, Jeffrey Brian and the Ghost of Zack Havoc is currently in production. He also just published the memoirs of his late twin brother called, Not Guilty by Reason of Insanity. His own first two books, A Walk Towards Heaven and Dream Guidance are due to be released in the fall.

REVIEWS

" Jeffrey Brian makes music that stands for something, thank God. And he does it without sentimentality or naive optimism. I hope his generation truly hears what he has to offer."
