

BIOGRAPHY

Since their impromptu appearance on The Tonight Show, The Jesus Twins have emerged as one of the most controversial underground acts in the world. Featured in publications like Billboard, The Los Angeles Times, Newsday and The New Yorker, along with countless appearances on The Howard Stern Show, The Jesus Twins have taken a rather unorthodox march forward. Their two biggest hits to date are "Feel My Ubiquity" and "God Come Down Here" which have produced a loyal following in both the United States and abroad.

On August 5th, 2008, Eric Lewis Liebowitz, one half of the singing duo was shot to death by The Los Angeles Police Department while in the midst of a manic episode due to his bi-polar disorder. This closed the chapter on a long history of The Jesus Twins trying to achieve their life long dream of bringing their music to the world.

Since that time, much to the surprise of many, including surviving Jesus Twin Jeffrey Brian Liebowitz, The Jesus Twins audience continues to expand. Not only that, since his identical twin brother's death, Jeff Jesus receives nightly dream messages from his twin brother urging him to continue on with The Jesus Twins and finish the mission.

REVIEWS

"I think the band is really soulful, they're great live and the Twins' got some really great moves."
- Matt Pollack, Warner Bros.

"If there was a movie on the two, I'd not only pay money to see it, but I'd probably pay money to own it on video."
- Michael Cohen, TriStar Pictures

"You guys are banned from the NBC lot. I hope you have good luck with your f___kin' career."
- Jay Leno

"I did like their music, but then they started insulting Ozzy Osbourne; I got a big problem with that."
- Harvey Leeds, Live Nation

"They really are the world's biggest jerks; they think they're stars, they're frightening."
- Gary Dell'Abate, Producer of The Howard Stern Show

"Not since Michael Jackson have I worked with this kind of talent."
- Curtis Shaw, Entertainment Attorney

"It's the first time we ever played a song on the air, and the two artists got up and tried to beat up Fred."
- Howard Stern

"I'm very insulted by seeing a group that has the NERVE to use Jesus' name and look like that."
- Dottie Leonard, New Day Christian Distributors

"The band is great, very soulful. I like the musicianship and there's something happening visually."
- Steve Leeds, VP of Talent and Industry Affairs, Sirius Satellite Radio

"Love 'em or hate 'em, The Jesus Twins are two of the finest singers in the country."
- Craig Derry, Celebrity Vocal Coach